

2021 Active Space Camp, Amsterdam

A 48 hour workshop (camp) involved participants in ways that optimised the chance for new ideas, networks and initiatives to emerge. Main goal for the camp was to produce new scenarios for the topic “No city without art”.

The artist-run space, W 139, Amsterdam was the basecamp for common meals, collaborations, discussions and game based explorations of the surrounding neighbourhood.

The workshop involved the body in ways that nurtures a broad (and fun) range of interactions. The game-based structure aims at creating a rhythm between a radical openness and a concrete and operational focus.
